“Berry Patch dolls are all my original creations. Every Berry Patch Doll is a labor of love. New faces take months of preparation before their debut. Attention to detail marks every step of development from the original sculpture to the finishing touches on the costume. Each doll is an individual. No two are ever exactly the same. All dolls are very small limited editions of 3 or less or one-of-a-kind interpretations. All are completely my own work; I even make all of my own molds. They are porcelain and cloth over a wire armature and are equipped with custom made stands (my husband makes these for me) that fit up inside the doll for maximum stability. Wigs are human hair, mohair or synthetic fiber. Many in the collection have wigs made and styled by me. Eyes are glass. Every doll is signed, numbered and comes with a Certificate of Authenticity.”

Carolyn’s dolls may be seen on her web site at www.BerryPatchDolls.com.
